

Morse code is only one mode of the many that Amateurs can use. With Computer?electronic aid anyone can use code. No ham should be banned from this mode however code does not make a better Ham and should not be used as a barrier to the legal use of other modes. We need good amateurs for emergency service in the high frequency bands.with no code required.. .

The fact that I do not use code has nothing to do with my use of FM, AM, SSB, Slow Scan TV or any of the other modes other than morse code.itself. I am not required to prove my ability to ride horseback for a Motorcycle riders license.

The US should be a leader and eliminate this artificial barrier to the many good Amateurs who may not wish to use code but would be valued technical and innovative users in advancing the legal utilization of the amateur radio spectrum for the good of all.

There is no need to make changes other than to eliminate this artificial barrier
